Century Savings Bank Partners with Bridge the Gap to Collect School Supplies for Students

BRIDGETON, NJ (August 4, 2017) – Many children look forward to arriving on the first day of school with new notebooks, backpacks and pencil boxes, but it's a different story for children whose families cannot afford these items. To meet this community need, Century Savings Bank is conducting its annual "Backpacks for Bridgeton" back to school supply drive for students and WE NEED YOUR HELP.

The backpack program is an exceptional way to support our local students. Each fall, many children start the school year without the basic school supplies they need to succeed academically. Backpacks for Bridgeton is a program focused on providing those critical supplies to children who are "most in need", allowing them to focus on their studies and build self-esteem.

Now through August 25, the Upper Deerfield office of Century Savings Bank located at 53 Cornwell Drive in Bridgeton will serve as a drop off collection site. For additional details, please contact Loretta LaTourette at (856) 455-7900 or Martha Torres at 451-3300.
